

BILDNER CENTER

for Western Hemisphere Studies

CUBA SEMINAR

STUDYING CUBA

HISTORICAL AND THEORETICAL CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES

Panel:

“Revisiting Cuban Sugar before the Revolution”

Alan Dye, Barnard College / Columbia University

“The Cuban Transition and Its Crossroads”

Samuel Farber, Brooklyn College

“The Cuban Revolution: A Historical Perspective”

José Moya, Barnard College / Columbia University

“Notes on Cuba’s ‘Exceptionalism’”

Mauricio Font, The Graduate Center and Queens College

“Cubanía and the Study of Freemasonry”

Julie Skurski, The Graduate Center

This panel is part of an effort at the Cuba Project/Bildner Center to take stock of major academic debates about the understanding of contemporary Cuban society historically and theoretically. The five panelists offer stimulating accounts and sharpening of issues regarding important aspects of republican Cuba, the 1959 revolution, and current the dynamics of succession or transition. Future panels will extend this discussion.

Location:
Room C204/C205
The Graduate Center
365 Fifth Avenue

Thursday
March 19
4:00 PM

To reserve, send e-mail to cubaproject@gc.cuny.edu